Meet the Panelists

Shivani Patel, MBBS, MS, FASE (Asst Clinician, Cardiology) staffs several cardiology clinics at Central DuPage Hospital and is a cardiac imager at the Lurie Children’s Hospital. In addition to her clinical duties, she has pursued her life-long passion for education. She has been instrumental in furthering the development of the transthoracic and transesophageal echocardiogram boot camps, as well as co-creating a neonatal cardiology curriculum which is highly regarded by neonatology attendings and fellows. She is the course co-director of the Chicago Sonographer Update Conference, where she rose to the pandemic challenge by using online tools to reach an audience from 6 continents. Dr. Patel is a valuable member of the Fellow Education in Imaging Committee (a forum for fellow evaluation and improvement). She graduated from the Medical Education Certificate Program and completed a Simulation Based Mastery Learning curriculum at Northwestern to advance her teaching skills this Shivani Desai, MD, MS (Assoc Clinician, HBM) is a neonatologist at Central DuPage Hospital and Chair of the Physician Wellness Committee of the NM Central DuPage Hospital Medical Staff. She sought out formal training to understand the clinical practice, professional stressors, and research-informed approaches to mitigating these stressors, and subsequently led an 8-week course on “Stress Management and Resiliency” for physicians at CDH and Lurie. She continues her leadership role in the Neonatal Follow-up Clinic, where she worked closely with multidisciplinary team members to lead the conversion to telemedicine visits. Dr. Desai was the physician NICU lead for the State of Illinois ILPQC Mothers and Newborns Affected by Opioids quality project. She has been active in many hospital committees, including the Medical Executive Committee, and currently is the co-chair of the Wellness Committee at Lurie Children’s.

Anita Swamy, MD (Assoc Clinician, Endocrinology) is Medical Director of the La Rabida Chicago Children’s Diabetes Center. Under her leadership the clinic now serves approximately 900 patients across three sites. She and her colleagues are constantly improving the care to children and families through development and implementation of new guidelines and protocols. Dr. Swamy has developed a strong reputation in the parent community of children with diabetes, and requests for her as a physician are an ongoing source of new referrals. Dr. Swamy is also Vice President of Medical Staff at La Rabida, where she is helping streamline credentialing and developing a 360-degree peer review program for physicians. Dr. Swamy also serves as a Medical Advisor for the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation and is a regular speaker for the American Diabetes Association. She works with Chicago Public Schools to train school nurses, and works closely with the Diabetes Training Camp for young athletes with diabetes.

Meta Carroll, MD (Master Clinician, Emergency Med) is Outreach Site Leader for the Div of Emergency Medicine at Northwest Committee Hospital. Her change management skills were called upon in this challenging year related to procedures (due to covid); partnerships (in the form of NCH merging with NorthShore in January); physical space (closure of the pediatric ED and unification of adults and pediatric patients) and personnel (90% of pediatric nursing staff departing the ED). Her service as an outreach-based educator included monthly pediatric talks to general emergency physicians; continued onboarding of PEM fellows during their 2nd year community rotation; and transition of the Lurie-NCH Quarterly Pediatric Conference into a virtual conference. She also completed a 2-year clinical bioethics program at Northwestern and amplified this education with ethics talks for faculty and fellows at Lurie and NCH.
